

Liz: I came as soon as I found out. How is she?

Parent: Thank you, Liz. She went straight into the operating theater when she got to the hospital, and now she's sleeping. She'll recover, but it'll take a while.

Liz: Car accidents are so scary.

Parent: I know. We're just so happy that she's alright. The person who hit her was busy texting, not even watching the road. He's also in this hospital, but not much happened to him.

Liz: Oh my gosh! Everyone should ignore their phones while they're driving.

Parent: I agree. I suppose it's easier said than done.
