“The Just One More Book!! podcast is a thrice-weekly audio-on-demand program in which we discuss the children’s books we love and why we love them – recorded in our favourite coffee shop.”
-- Andrea and Mark

Episodes range in length from 5 to 12 minutes and can be played directly from our web page or downloaded to a portable MP3 player for listening on the go. Each episode features an informal discussion of one of our family’s favourite children’s books, a discussion on a book theme, an interview with an author or illustrator, or a listener submitted review.

Through this podcast and its website, we are building a lively, interactive community linking children’s book authors, illustrators, aficionados, parents, children, librarians and publishers.

Just One More Book!! is powered by passion. We have no advertisers or sponsors and there is no financial gain to be had. Our goal is to link children with great books and to help create happy memories for children and the adults that read to them…and to have fun!

“…The podcasts are organized by the subject of the book(s) discussed, so it’s easy to find topical reviews and discussions of books about dozens of subjects.”
--Sarah Houghton-Jan, Librarian blogger

“I shall keep an eye on you…If there’s anything else I can do for you, to promote your brilliant idea then you just let me know…There are not many people so altruistic as you...Great work!”
-- Ian Whybrow, Author

“…i love how you unpacked the way the text was positioning you while at the same time realizing how you were positioning Poodlena... of course the best part is you do all this and still truly enjoy the book …”
-- Vivian Vasquez, Critical Literacy expert

“…I went into Barnes and Noble to buy all of these books. They didn’t have a single one on the shelves. I ordered them all and the woman who worked in the children’s area asked me if I was a teacher, as she had never heard of any of these books!”
-- Karen, avid listener
